CZAR DETERMINED TO AVOID A BREACH

Press is in a position to state that Emperor Nicholas is determined to avoid a breach if possible.

Not only will political amnesty be granted, but the emperor is ready to replace the Goremykin ministry with a cabinet chosen from among the conservative members in the lower house in the hope of effecting a compromise. He is not willing, however, to permit the majority to select the premier, but once such a concession is made it is difficult to understand how the emperor can halt half-way and refuse a full constitutional monarchy, which government by parliamentary majority involves. Practically parliament already has won a great victory.

Mr. Olson was unconscious from the effects of the shock when found by those who came to his assistance and still suffers from a feeling of numbness, which it is believed will disappear in a few days.
